The homes, the berths and the basics.

What you are buying, what is included, and the rights that come with your Boathouse Residences.

What are Boathouse Residences?

Boathouse Residences is a limited collection of architecturally designed floating homes located within Hobsonville Marina. Each residence is positioned within a designated marina berth, offering a unique waterfront living experience with a direct connection to the water.

What is included in the purchase price?

The purchase price includes the completed Boathouse Residence together with the associated rights to occupy its designated berth within the marina.

Do I own the berth?

The Boathouse Residence includes the right to occupy a designated marina berth. This is secured through a formal berth licence providing exclusive use of that position within the marina.

Is the berth included in the purchase?

Yes. The purchase includes the residence together with the rights to occupy its designated berth within Hobsonville Marina.

Is the berth licence transferable?

Yes. The berth licence is transferable upon the sale of the residence, subject to marina approval of the purchaser, payment of the transfer fee, and standard documentation requirements.

Your place on the water, explained.

How the berth licence works, what you pay, and who looks after the marina.

What is a berth licence?

A berth licence grants the right to occupy and use a specific marina berth for the purpose of mooring your Boathouse Residence. It is governed by Hobsonville Marina's operational rules and management framework.

Is there rent payable for the berth?

No. There is no rent for the berth. Operational and maintenance costs (OPEX) and a live-aboard levy apply, similar to an apartment building body corporate.

What do OPEX costs typically cover?

Operational costs contribute to the upkeep and management of the marina, including maintenance of infrastructure, common areas, marina services and general operations.

---

Who manages the marina?

Hobsonville Marina is professionally managed to ensure the ongoing maintenance of facilities, compliance with regulations and the smooth operation of the precinct.

Connected from the moment you arrive.

Power, water, waste and the care that keeps daily life unhurried.

Are power and water connected?

Yes. Each Boathouse Residence is connected to marina services, including power, fresh water and waste water.

How are utilities charged?

Power and water usage are individually metered, and residents are responsible for their own consumption.

Are there any additional service connections?

Further details regarding services such as communications and other utilities will be provided within the information pack.

How are The Boathouse Residences cared for in a waterfront environment?

Reflecting their marina setting, The Boathouse Residences will benefit from a biannual external maintenance programme inspired by a vessel's regular "haul-out" process. This includes specialised cleaning and treatments to remove algae, salt, and environmental build-up, preserving the residences' appearance and integrity over time.

A rhythm shaped by the tide.

What everyday life looks like at Hobsonville Marina.

---

Can I live in the Boathouse Residence full-time?

Boathouse Residences are designed to support full-time living.

Are there rules for living within the marina?

Yes. Residents are required to comply with Hobsonville Marina's rules and regulations, which are designed to maintain safety, amenity and a high standard of living throughout the precinct.

What kind of lifestyle can I expect?

Life at Hobsonville Marina offers a balance of waterfront living, community and connectivity. Residents enjoy direct access to the marina, coastal walkways, nearby cafés and village amenities, along with ferry connections to the city.

Your home, on your terms.

Renting, modifying, and shaping the residence around how you intend to live.

Can I rent out my Boathouse Residence?

Long term renting is permitted, subject to marina rules and any applicable regulatory requirements. Further details will be outlined in the information pack.

Can I make changes to my residence?

Any external modifications must comply with marina guidelines and may require approval to ensure consistency, safety and design integrity across the precinct.

The small details that matter.

Parking, pets, insurance, and the everyday particulars of life at the marina.

---

Is there parking available?

There are 206 unallocated berth holder car parking spaces available for use by berth holders.

Are pets allowed?

Pet ownership is subject to marina rules and regulations. Further details can be provided upon request.

What about insurance?

Owners are responsible for arranging appropriate insurance for their residence.

From interest to settlement.

The deposit, the balance, and where the detailed paperwork lives.

How do I secure a Boathouse Residence?

Interested purchasers can register their interest and will be guided through the purchase process, including access to plans, pricing and contractual documentation.

What deposit is required?

An initial deposit of $500 is required to secure your Boathouse Residence berth, with a further deposit payable within 14 days, and the balance of the purchase price on settlement date.

When is the remaining balance payable?

The balance of the purchase price is payable in accordance with the terms outlined in the sale and purchase agreement, generally on the agreed settlement date.

Where can I get more detailed information?

A comprehensive information pack is available, including plans, specifications, pricing and detailed terms relating to the berth licence and marina operations.
